DOMESTIC SCIENCE INCLUDED IN CHARLEROI SCHOOL CURRICULUM

High School and Grammar School Department to Have Benefit of Innovation

TEACHER IS ELECTED

Specialist From Pittsburg is Chosen---Manual Training Next--Commercial Course to be Installed

Domestic science will be included in the curriculum of high school and the grammar school department of the Charleroi schools the coming term. This departure has just been decided upon by the school board, already chosen a teacher for domestic science in the person of Miss McKee of the secondary school of education of the University of Pittsburg. Miss McKee is a specialist. She has been trained in the university. Manual training will come later in the grammar school and high school. The new grammar school will include the seventh and eighth grades, which with the high school will occupy the new school building now being erected.

When the new building is completed there will be a room equipped for domestic science and one equipped for manual training in addition to the various other special rooms. The course in domestic science will be to train the girls in sewing and cooking principally.

Together with the domestic science room will be fitted up for use this year the commercial department. From 15 to 20 new typewriters of one of the latest and most approved makes will be installed, having already been purchased. It will take two teachers for this department and they will probably be chosen at the next meeting of the school board.

Architect A. P. Cooper of Uniontown, who has under his supervision the work of the new school building attended the meeting of the school board which was held Tuesday evening, and gave as his opinion that the new building would be finished ready for occupancy by the middle of September. This will be in good time for the coming school term.

The contract for furnishing coal to the school district for the ensuing year was awarded to the Consumer's Coal company, of Charleroi of which T. J. Crombie is the manager.

Business Will Remain The Same.

Since the death of Wilmot D. Hancock, many people have inquired as to whether or not the undertaking business would still be conducted by Mrs Hancock. She desires to state that she will remain in Roscoe and with the assistance of her brother, Chas. Melenyzer, who recently secured his state licence as an undertaker, continue the business as heretofore. During the illness of Mr. Hancock a large portion of the work connected with the business was done by Mrs. Hancock, and she is therefore familiar with its undertaking. 278-t6-M-2

Ready Now for Tipple

Council Passes Ordinances Permitting Carnegie Coal Company to Build

By an ordinance that was passed first, second and third reading by council at a special meeting Tuesday evening, the Carnegie Coal company is granted permission to erect a tipple over McKean and Lincoln avenues. The meeting of council was particularly for that purpose and was but a short session. President W. R Gaut was in the chair and councilmen present were D. R. Duvall, W. H. Calvert and Frank Riva.

The tipple is to have a span of 56 feet over Lincoln avenue, and over McKean avenue of 64 feet of a minimum. The tipple is to clear the Lincoln avenue grade by 38 feet and McKean avenue grade by 42 feet.

FLAMES DESTROY A BARN

Heavy Loss Sustained by Mrs. Luce at Farm Back of Monessen

QUANTITY HAY BURNED

A barn belonging to the estate of Leonard Luce on the hill about a mile back of Monessen was burned this morning between 4 and 5 o'clock. With it was consumed the most of the contents, hay, feed, farm produce, machinery and implements. Some horses were in the barn but these were gotten out uninjured. The loss is estimated at $2,000 with insurance of $1,000.

The fire was discovered at about 4:45 o'clock. It was well under way, and all that could be done was to remove the horses from the burning structure. The farm is operated by Mrs. Luce, widow of Leonard Luce and her son Wesley, who have no idea as to the origin of the fire.

Reward.

A reward will be paid to the party furnishing information leading to the arrest and conviction of parties destroying property at the Playgrounds after eight-thirty at night.

FATHER OF DR. A. O. DAVIS DIES SUDDENLY

Well Known Charleroi Man Victim of Acute Indigestion and Heart Trouble---Former Coal Operator Along Valley

From acute indigestion and from heart trouble William H. Davis, aged 72 years, the father of Dr. A. O. Davis, died this morning very suddenly at about 10 o'clock. He had been troubled during the night by indigestion and this morning a doctor was called in, but medical attention was of no avail.

Dr. Davis was in Meadville at the time of his father's death and was notified immediately by telephone. He started home and will arrive this afternoon.

Tuesday afternoon Mr. Davis seemed in his usual health, and attended the benefit baseball game at the ball ground. He was with a few of his friends Tuesday evening and it is said returned to his room at 209 Fifth street at about 11 o'clock. Mr. Davis was subject to attacks of indigestion, it is stated, though he was usually in robust health. The severe attck during the night and this morning was too much for him, and almost before the seriousness of his illness could be realized he was gone.

Mr. Davis was a veteran coal man of the Monongahela valley. He formerly lived in Allenport. He retired about 15 years ago from active business. Six years ago his wife died, and since then he has resided in Belle Vernon and Charleroi.

Mr. Davis was first married about 40 years ago. After some years this first wife died. To them two children had been born. They are still living and are James Davis of Coal Centre and Mrs. Zoppporah Baldwin, of Brownsville. At the time of his second marriage, Cassie Mitchell, of Allepnort became his wife. Their surviving children are Dr. A. O. Davis of Charleroi and Mrs. Harry M. White of Belle Vernon.

Mr. Davis was a member of Charleroi Lodge No. 494, B. P. O. Elks.

WOMEN ATTEND REVIVAL AT TABERNACLE

W. C. T. U. Night Observed at Monessen Evangelistic Services

Escorted by a squad of six small girls dressed in white, who bore a huge bouquet of white carnations tied with white ribbon, the emblem of the organization, members of the Charleroi, Belle Vernon, Monongahela, Donora and Monessen W. C. T. U. marched from Sixth street, Monessen, to the big tabernacle Tuesday evening, where evangelistic services are being held. Tuesday evening was specially dedicated to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and members of the order attended in a body from the towns mentioned.

At the tabernacle the bouquet of white carnations was presented to Rev. Dr. Hamilton, the evangelist who has charge of the meetings. He responded by saying he had rather receive white carnations from the W. C. T. U. than from any other organization, because it meant purity for the home, and for the girls and boys. The women of the delegation joined in singing, "All Around the World the Ribbon White Will Twine," one of the rallying songs of the organization. Dr. Hamilton preached a stirring sermon appropriate for the occasion.

Entertains Club.

The Travelers' fancy work club of young women was entertained Tuesday evening by Miss Mae Hepler at her home on McKean avenue. The evening was spent with fancy work.

Bridge Good at $30,000

County Commissioners Take Over River Structure at Belle Vernon

Commissioners from Washington and Fayette county on Tuesday held a meeting at Belle Vernon and inspected the Belle Vernon-Speers river bridge, on which repairs have been recently completed They found everything had been done according to agreement, and formally acquired possession and put it into public use as a county structure.

The bridge cost 30,000 to get repaired and the commissioners took action that the contract price be paid for the work. It took the contractors longer than they had anticipated to finish the work, but the commissioners did not hold this against them.

CAPTAIN SCHAFER'S TEAM WINS

Baseball Battle for Benefit of Playgrounds Hot Struggle

REALLY INTERESTING

When John "Baseball" Schafer's aggregation of aggravating ball tossers and Robert "O-you-kid" Vetter's hefty heavyweight pill sluggers met in deadly combat on the ball arena over towards the river Tuesday night, and proceeded towards a scrap for the benefit of the Charleroi playgrounds, there was smoke. A good-sized audience attracted by the personality and popularity of the individual players as well as by the good and noble cause fumed around in the grand stand and fanned around all over the bleachers while Schafer and his crowd annexed a six inning victory with the final score 8 to 6. The defeat could not be and was not blamed on the umpires. Fred Brady "and" Joseph Schoener, possibly for the reason that the latter named notable had a Revolutionary war relic of a rifle hidden in the grass close to first base, to be used in case of emergency. Fred umpired for the batter and Joe for the bases. The game was rich in several things For instance Pierce Ferguson hit out one of the longest hits that has ever been seen on the grounds. The ball went into the river and a boy had to go swimming to recover it.

The story will be told. Schafer's team went to bat first. Harry Zellers, Jr., was the first man up. What he did was to swat. Yezzir, and then he stole second base, and not satisfied, pilfered third too. Schafer whiffed the ozone three mighty whiffs, and Kerfoot Daly covered himself with all kinds of glory by singling, bringing in Zellers with the first score.

TEACHING CORPS ANNOUNCED; LIST CONTAINS BUT NINE NEW NAMES

School Board Practically Completes Work---Commercial Teachers to be Chosen

CENTRALIZE GRADES

Seventh and Eighth Grades to be Conducted Under New Plan---High School Teachers Same

The election of teachers for the Charleroi schools was practically completed Tuesday night by the school board at their regular meeting and the entire list was announced this morning. By new provisions adopted for this and succeeding terms the seventh and eighth grades will be centralized in what will be known as the grammar school department in the new school building now under course of construction.

To date 50 teachers, including principals and supervisors of departments have been elected. With Superintendent of Schools T. L. Pollock, the number is 51. When all told are elected there will be 55.

In the selection of teachers home girls were given the preference. Nine new teachers were elected. For the first six grades a writing and drawing supervisor was elected. This is a new departure.

This year there is to be a commercial department installed in high school, and two commercial teachers remain to be elected. A teacher of domestic science was elected in the person of Miss McKe, from Pittsburg. One resignation in the list of teachers has been reported. Miss Harriet Jolliffe has quit her place to go to the Avalon schools.

The following is the list of teachers: Supervisor of music—Prof. I. T. Daniel.

SCHOOLS AND ADULTS

The marked success of the special mining schools which are being conducted in the mining centers of this community demonstrates that the sphere of the public school does not stop with the youth who attains high school age. Some of these mining classes are maintained free of cost to the students, while in others a nominal fee is charged to cover expenses. One of the most successful series of mining classes that has been conducted has been in charge of instructors from the University of Pittsburg, who have conducted these classes at different points in the mining centers of the Pittsburg district. The mining school at Ellsworth has also been eminently successful. As a result a large number of coal miners of the community have been enabled to qualify for higher and more responsible positions, and to successfully pass the required examinations that will give them an opportunity to rise in their ocupations and thereby increase their earning capacity and usefulness.

This goes to show that there should be no specified school age, and that the schools should be in operation in some of the departments the entire year, in the evenings as well as in the day time,and be open to adults as well as to younger students. There should be an opportunity at all times for foreigners to learn the English language, as well as night classes for adults to acquire practical instructions in preparing for higher positions, such as mine foreman, bossing in construction work, and other technical training where opportunity would add to the efficiency of workmen. No person should be past the school age at any time in life, and the public should provide free and easy facilities for advancing into the realms of advanced and higher education for practical purposes as well as for culture and pleasure.

PUBLIC BATHING POOLS

The sad drowning accident here last week, whereby one of the brightest and most promising of the high school boys lost his life, again emphasizes the need of a public bathing pool at the river provided with a guard and life saving appliances. County Coroner James T. Heffran has annually recommended a provision of this kind for the various communities when reporting upon the numerous drowning cases of bathers which come under his jurisdiction. Pittsburg and other large communities provide this safeguard, and bathing pools are designated where an expert swimmer is assigned as a life guard. A boat, life buoys, lines, and other life saving equipment are provided, and the danger of drowning accidents are reduced to a minimum at a small public expense.

In communities where public playgrounds are maintained which employ an instructor and director, it would seem that the latter might take over the duties of a life guard at certain times of the day and escort to the river and supervise swimming parties of boys. In other instances the municipality could provide the expense for guards and equipment, and the state constabulary could be made useful in preventing bathing except at the regular designated swimming pools.

Every year a ghastly toll of life is exacted by the drowning of bathers in the river, which might be reduced to a minimum by a trifling public expense, and in addition provide pleasure and comfort for the people.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"The decision of the United States supreme court that the two cent passenger rate in West Virginia stands, will mean at least $5,000 to a station agent I know in one of the towns there," said a Charleroi man yesterday. "After the legislature of West Virginia passed the two cent rate law, it was immediately contested. In view of that the Chesepeake & Ohio Railroad company, while it still charged three cents a mile, issued a rebate of a cent a mile with every ticket sold pending the decision of the case. The most of the rebates were thrown away by the purchasers of tickets, but one of the station agents I know made a business of collecting them.

"The two cent rate won out in the lower courts of West Virginia, and in all the appellate courts of the state, and is finally taken to the United States supreme court, which has just now sustained the decision. The rebates issued by the C. & O. company will have to be redeemed, and the agent in question has over $5,000 worth that he has collected since the road first began to issue them.

"The most of the other roads in the state accepted the law as passed and only charged the two cent rate while the case was being fought out in the courts. The C. & O., however will come out ahead in the deal as large numbers of the rebates were destroyed, and will never be presented for redemption.

A traveling man in Charleroi this week tells a story of a small boy who, when asked his name at school replied that it was Johnny.

"But I want your last name, too, said the teacher.

"Johnny's my last name," insisted the lad.

"No, it isn't, replied the teacher. "Your family name is your last name. Now, what is that? Smith, is it? Then that is your last name."

"Well, when I was born I was a Smith, wasn't I? I've heard my ma say that I wasn't named Johnny until two weeks after I was born, so that before I was named Johnny I was Smith, and Johnny is my last name," insisted the boy.

As this logic was irrefutable, the teacher did not insist on her version of the question.

Little Doubt About It.

Married a month, a young man told the magistrate that his wife had done the following things: Torn up the marriage-certificate, pawned the ring, torn up her wedding-dress, assaulted him. She followed him to court, he added, but he managed to dodge her. The Clerk: "You took her for better or worse, and you seem to have got the worse."

Specialists Recommend Yawning.

In the opinion of learned specialists no one can be healthy unless he or she does a certain amount of yawning. When you yawn you expel from the lungs a lot of superfluous air; the breathing muscles of both the chest and the throat are strengthened by yawning.

Parisian Solomon.

It is not given to every arbiter to cut the Gordian knot. Two customers in a Paris restaurant disputed, as customers will, whether to have the window open or shut. The apostle of ventilation had dined; the other was a fresh comer, who had brought his stock of fresh air with him. The restaurateur decided for the monsieur who had not yet dined. The decision satisfied the claims of justice and business at a single stroke, and if one client had a grievance it was open to him to ventilate it (and his lungs) outside.

The Ocean Is Dusty.

When the decks of ships are rubbed and cleaned each morning great quantities of dust are invariably found. In the modern steamship this could be accounted for by the tons of carbon which are poured forth daily by the funnels, but the curious thing is that the deck of a sailing ship shows a greater quantity of this material than that of the steamship. In an Atlantic trip, occupying ninety-seven days by sailing ship, twenty-four barrels of powder were swept from the deck. The captain took extended observations of the amounts collected daily, but found nothing which assisted him to clear the mystery.

No Doubt.

Big Sculpture

The most remarkable proposal ever made about Mount Athos was that of the architect Dinocrates. His plan was to cut it into the shape of a gigantic statue of Alexander the Great, holding in the right hand a city, in the left a tank that was to receive all the waters of the region. Alexander was much taken with the scheme. But it was eventually rejected on the ground that the neighboring country was not fertile enough to feed the inhabitants of the projected city. Another of Dinocrates' plans was a temple to the wife of King Ptolemy of Egypt, with a roof of loadstones that would keep an iron statue of her floating in the air.

Rabbits Cause Immense Loss.

Observant and experienced men compute that eight or ten rabbits eat or destroy as much grass as one sheep. As there as so many millions of rabbits in Australia, the loss in the carrying capacity of the country is appalling. The pest in New South Wales is spreading, notwithstanding all that is being done in the shape of trapping, poisoning, fumigating, and ligging out.

Pretty Girls and Plain Men.

When a pretty woman marries a plain man it is not because she pities him. A woman loves a man because of his strength. His determination appeals to her, and wins her in the end, though she may not have been attracted to him in the beginning. Firmness compels a woman's admiration and respect, and that is the first stepping stone to love.

Child-Training.

It is not fair to a small child for the parents or nurse to be careless about the little things that develop thoughtfulness, self-reliance and self-control in a child. Self-control is a characteristic absolutely essential to manhood or womanhood, and it is not learned in a day. It is the result of patient teaching and training through all the long years of babyhood and childhood.

Thought His Duty Ended.

The Duc de Raguse once explained to the Countess de Boigne the nature of his connection with the emperor as follows: "When the emperor said, 'All for France,' I served with enthusiasm; when he said, 'France and I,' I served with obedience; but when he said, 'I' without France, I felt the necessity of separating from him."

Didn't Appreciate Whitman.

Shortly after Walt Whitman's "Leaves of Grass" made its appearance, J. T. Trowbridge was walking with Lowell in Cambridge, when the latter pointed out a door-way sign, "Groceries," with the letters set zigzag, to produce a bizarre effect. "That," said he, "is Walt Whitman—with very common goods inside."

Yield of a Grain of Wheat.

Very few people have an idea of the bounty of nature. A scientist of Cambridge, Eng., recently made an instructive experiment which showed that a single grain of wheat sown in June, produced 47 pounds 7 ounces. One acre of fairly good land will produce 30 bushels of wheat or 1,260 pounds of flour.

PAY HIGH PRICE FOR BOOKS

Lords of the Checkbook Find Profit in the Treasures of the Library.

There is probably no lover of books—ho, having the means, would not be glad to possess treasures of the library which have won additional interest from association with great names. It is not surprising that Jean Grolier's copy of Ovid's "Heroidum Epistolae," with Grolier's arms and device, should have brought several hundreds dollars at an auction sale in this city, or that a record price should have been paid for the first collected edition of the "Poetical and Dramatic Works" of Oliver Goldsmith, or that a letter of Garrick's should fetch $172.

Yet such prices have little to do with literature proper. Many a man who possesses cheap copies of these auction items may get more enjoyment and culture out of editions the bibliophile would despise than the man who simply has to draw a check for whatever pleases his fancy.

Lord Rosebery, in a recent address in Scotland, defined the function of books as three fold to furnish information required in the professions, to furnish literature and to furnish recreation. De Quincey classified books as pertaining to the literature of knowledge and the literature of power. In neither sense, except from the esthetic pleasures of ownership of a famous volume, can the high price of rare books in recent years be justified. They are chiefly due to an eruption of the lords of the checkbook into the world of books where they have found profit. The great Hoe library, which has now been practically dispersed, is said to have cost only about $750,000, while it brought at auction nearly $2,000,000.

With such an illustration of the rising value of rare books, there need be no wonder at the high price some of these volumes command.—New York World

EARTH'S HEIGHTS AND DEPTH

From the Topmost Mountain to the Lowest Ocean Bed Is Nearly Eight Miles.

The maximum difference in elevation of land in the United States is 14,777 feet, according to the United States Geological Survey. Mount Whitney, the highest point, is 14,501 feet above sea level, and a point in Death Valley is 276 feet below sea level. These two points, which are both in California, are less than ninety miles apart. This difference is small, however, as compared with the figures for Asia. Mount Everest rises 29,002 feet above sea level whereas the shores of the Dead Sea are 1,290 feet below sea level, a total difference in land heights of 30,292 feet. Mount Everest has never been climbed.

The greatest ocean depth yet found is 32,088 feet, at a point about forty miles north of the island of Mindanao, in the Philippine Islands. The ocean bottom at this point is therefore more than eleven and one-half miles below the summit of Mount Everest.

The difference in the land heights in Europe is about 15,868 feet.

Birds and Beasts of Old Times.

Plants, animals and birds of the Bible have been made the subject of a special exhibition in the natural history department of the British museum. Among the striking bits of information contained in this work are the following: The common fowl is not mentioned in the old testament, and was probably introduced into Palestine after the Roman conquest. The "unicorn" of the old testament was probably the Syrian aurochs, now extinct. That the "behemoth" was not the hippopotamus is believed probable because of the fact that there is no record of the latter animal in Syria or Palestine in historical times. The "tares" of the Bible were darnel grasses, whose seeds are poisonous; the "rose" was probably the narcissus, while the "lily" was the poppy anemone.

Real and Spurious Gems.

So nearly do the synthetic sapphire and ruby resemble the gems which nature requires centuries to produce that the expert alone can distinguish the real stone from that of laboratory origin. The average jeweler, who has himself had little experience in handling these gems, cannot tell the difference. He must take the expert's word that the stones he buys are genuine. In Paris they are turned out in the laboratories of chemists in large quantities annually. In Germany and France selling manufactured sapphires and rubies as genuine is so common that the jewelers' associations of Paris and Berlin have asked their respective countries for stringent laws compelling the manufacturers to label their goods.

Where Do the Toads Go?

When a toad buries himself in the garden over winter, does he bury himself so deep that he is below the frost line? If he does not, is he able to freeze up and thaw out again and live on just the same?

It is safe to say that no animal with a well-recognized circulatory system can freeze up solidly and "come to life again" afterward. The toad must be free from frost somewhere. But how deep does he go? The writer of these lines has himself turned up the torpid bodies of living toads with a plow in the early spring, and the creatures were certainly not six inches deep in the soil and they were not frozen. Had they been there all winter, and if so, how did they escape the frost?

FACTS ABOUT THE GIFT COW

Writer, Evidently Having Had Some Experience, Writes Bitter Things Concerning Animal in Question.

Already putting up the bars against presents, which, and often in the queerest forms, are sure to be offered or even sent without permission to a president by so many of the generous, easy, careless—should we add "irresponsible?"—American tribe, Governor Wilson is said to have warned or shooed away the cow which a middle western farmer sought to give him. According to the dispatches the governor will make it a rule to refuse "valuable" gifts.

The rule is none of our business, but is a cow, aye, though she be a milky Orsini or Colonna, "valuable" in the hands of an innocent third party, not bucolic in his habits? How many blameless urban souls have pined for the greenwood tree and a horned Amaryllis in the shade thereof. How many of them have begged, bought, mortgaged, stolen and got their little patch of land and stocked it with a cow, "fancy" or otherwise, in price always "fancy," too often the gift of a pretended friend or malicious relation? Was this lactiferous beast of their dreams "valuable" to them? Was it not rather a responsibility, a cause of continual trouble and expense?

The cow moos all day, if kept at home, and a decent regard for the neighbors forces the amateur to drive the danged thing afield. He can't feed it or milk it, he has to hire a man, usually incompetent, to chaperon it to and from the pasture, attend to its board, milk it, telephone for the "vet" now and then. The cow caretaker doesn't know his business. The gift cow knows he doesn't know his business. And milk is not one of the gifts of the cow. The cow is always getting you into hot water. You can't sell it or give it away to an enemy. You don't dare to shoot it. You have to pass that cow's life in lying to the giver.

Governor Wilson does well to buy his milk. He would have to buy it just the same if he had a gift cow.—New York Sun.

Cape Smoke.

The chiefs of Basutoland and Bechuanaland demand prohibition, and take care that it is secured to their people. But nevertheless the brandy party of the Cape Colony leaves no stone unturned to promote the sale of "cape smoke" and wine sufficiently strengthened to suit the native taste. Nothing can be more fallacious or hypocritical than to speak of the native being supplied with "light wines." The native wants something with a "bite" in it, and is not satisfied with any intoxicant which does not proceed down his throat "like a torchlight procession."

Within the last three months there were at one time no fewer than 1,500 persons in the Johannesburg jails charged with illicit selling of intoxicants. The crime is that of giving veritable poison to natives—all at a price frequently of ten shillings a bottle. The punishment for this lucrative and murderous traffic is, Mr. Wilmot contends, "absolutely preposterous," and after some months of easy prison life the brazen trafficker returns to his easy method of making money.

Water Colors.

Bodies of water take on different colors at different times. The intense blue that is sometimes noticed is often nothing more than the reflection of a clear sky from the surface of brown river water. But men that have studied the sea say that the water is bluest when it is most salty. They say that in such salty places as the Gulf of Mexico and the Mediterranean sea the blue is caused by the salty quality and not by the summer skies. The sea in the northern oceans is green rather than blue.

If you have ever visited a natatorium, where the water for swimming is held in a great white tiled tank, you must have noticed the color. When the surface of the water is untroubled the color is a deep green, except where direct sunlight strikes it and turns it to a brilliant olive. But let a swimmer once disturb the surface and seed little waves rippling in every direction, and the green disappears, to be replaced by a blue like that of the sky. Yet if you catch up some of this water in your hand you will find that it is colorless.

Constanza, which has sprung into fame as a city of refuge for the Daily Chronicle war correspondent in flight from the Turkish censor, is an important marine asset for Roumania. It was also a place of interest in Roman days. Trajan's wall ran down to the outskirts of the town, which had another name then, and afterward became Kustenji. But the office window will rather care to note that Ovid in his banishment used to seek his recreation in the society supplied by the few distinguished compatriots settled by the little harbor on the Black sea. It is not an unpleasant place just now, for the autumn lasts agreeably into the middle of November. Ovid's complaints of Tomi seem somewhat exaggerated.

Took First Position.

William Milligan Sloane, "Seth, professor of history at Columbia university, in an interview with the London Daily Mail correspondent, said: "I understand that a certain Berlin correspondent of a New York newspaper received a cablegram from his editor which read, 'Don't send much war news; world's baseball series now on!'"

Do You Blame the Operator for Every Delay?

In a Telephone Central Office there are rushes just as in the business of a store, a bank or a restaurant.

Does any store clerk, sales girl, cashier in any store in town wait on you as quickly as do the operators of the Telephone Company?

The average time you wait for Central to say "Number please," is less than four seconds. Where else does one receive as uniformly good service?

Consider, too, how long, some times, you are in answering your telephone bell. You expect prompt answers. Do YOU answer promptly?

And Found Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Windom, Kansas.—"I had a displacement which caused bladder trouble and I was so miserable I didn't know what to do. I suffered from bearing down pains, my eyes hurt me, I was nervous, dizzy and irregular and had female weakness. I spent money on doctors but got worse all the time.

"A friend told me about the Pinkham remedies and I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and was cured. I cannot praise your remedies enough for I know I never would have been well if I had not taken it."—Miss MARY A. HORNER, Route No. 2, Box 41, Windom, Kansas.

Consider Well This Advice.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

SCHAFER'S TEAM WINS

Kendoot got out on second base when he tried to stretch his single into a double. Tif Might doubled, and stole third base, scoring when John Jenkins was safe on an error by Duffy Fergerson. Mathias fanned retiring the side.

For Vetter's gathering, Ferguson was given a walk. He swiped second Vetter struck out, and Ferguson got caught at third. Bateman doubled, stole third and a moment later after Bruce Barnett had struck out, and Zellers had dropped the ball, scored on George Barnett's single. Bruce got caught at third base.

The score remained 2 to 1 until the third inning, when it was tied up at 5 to 5. Then Schafer's team tallied thrice on two hits and several other things, and Vetter's four scores happened on four hits and several other things. One score for Vetter put him in the lead in the fourth. This was the last score his side made. Schafer's folks hit twice in the fifth and being helped along, scored three runs.

Schafer twirled three innings. With a ball that was slower than a B. & O. freight train and harder to swat than a fly on the wing, he proved very effective. Then he retired to give Jack Mathias a show. At this junction it was that Duffy Ferguson connected for that awful long one. However Jack was some twirler.

Vetter pitched for himself three innings and looked better than he felt. He slew five Schafer Philistines, and in the third quit because Harry Hormell wanted to pitch. Harry is a southpaw and that proved puzzling to the first three men he faced. He did well in the box.

Zellers and Ferguson both acted well behind the bat, and both showed real baseball form. On pegging to second they were simply great. First base jobs were capably handled by Charley Bateman and Daly. Of course both forgot or neglected to stop several that came their way, but that was through lack of practice. John Jenkins mussed up the ground at second base for Schafer and tried hard to stop a few easy grounders, playing a beautiful game. Bruce Barnett acted similarly to Jenkins, but it was noticeable that the playing of the band bothered him as well as it did Jenkins. Tiff Might turkey trotted around short-stop gracefully for the victors and had as his rival Attorney McCloskey, who posed more as a ball player than a turkey trotter, consequently getting a putout, an assist and an error to his credit.

On third posed Mathias. Seedy Fleming and George Barnett. Really, now folks, they played the best kind of baseball. The latter caught one fly that would have tickled Bobby Bryne, and the others, well they were simply all there. The outfielders for Schafer consisted of Seedy Fleming, who played there three innings, Burgess Risbeck, 'Squire Wheeler and John Fleming. The burgess hadn't played for 15 years, and didn't get a chance in the field, but showed class at the bat. Wheeler slugged the ball for two hits, and Fleming singled once for keeps. Tom Barger, Tom Eagye, Will Crawford and August Pancook sensationalized, starred and scraped in the outfield for Vetter. Pancook got the most work and accepted all chances cleanly. John Hein and Tommy Warrensford got to bat for two of their teammates in the noble duty of getting out.

As a matter of fact the game was not as bad as it might have been, and was really interesting. Preceding the game a parade took place. The Charleroi Concert band led in a large automobile, rendering music. At the ball park sweet strains from various composers enlivened the occasion. The score:

GOOD SCHOOL FACILITIES ARE REALIZED

One of the desirable features in connection with the location of the new lot plan of Lock View Terrace, in North Charleroi, where a big lot sale will take place Friday and Saturday of this week, is its close proximity to first-class schools and churches. In addition to the excellent public graded school at North Charleroi the residents have the privilege of the Charleroi high school, an institution that ranks second to none in its class in western Pennsylvania. As North Charleroi does not at the present time maintain a high school, pupils of that district can attend at Charleroi, and their tuition will be paid by the North Charleroi district.

In regard to church facilities, all the churches of Charleroi are within walking distance from Lock View Terrace, which are also accessible to two street car lines

The "tips" cut on the Kayser Silk Gloves

"The Kayser" SILK Glove

is the World's standard silk glove—all other silk gloves are measured by the "KAYSER" standard.

The development of the "KAYSER" Silk Glove represents the attainment of an ideal, the achievement of which has not been hampered by restrictions of cost or time, nor influenced by a passing demand for features most aptly characterized as "talking points."

We could not afford to buy expensive advertising space "year after year," to tell the women of America that "KAYSER" Gloves are the best—in style, fit and finish—if it were not true.

"KAYSERS" cost "cost no more" than the ordinary kind—and are worth double in quality, fit and value. Don't accept the "just as good" kind, there's a way to tell the genuine—"Look in the Hem"—if you find the name "KAYSER"—you have the kind that "don't wear out" at the finger ends.

Climate Failed; Medicine Effective

It has been absolutely shown that rest, fresh air and good food do help many persons suffering from Tuberculosis. But it must be admitted that the disease is seldom more than "arrested." Something more is needed.

Eckman's Alterative is a medicine made for the treatment of Tuberculosis. It has conquered this disease again and again. Often these benefits have been effected where the surroundings were not ideal—yet recoveries resulted. Now we argue that Eckman's Alterative should be used in every case of Tuberculosis, in addition to good, nourishing food and fresh air, which we all need. A remarkable case follows:

Weldon, Ill.

"Gentlemen: Through Eckman's Alterative I have been saved from a premature grave. On December 14, 1904, I was taken with Typhoid Pneumonia. My lungs became very much affected; my sputum was examined and Tuberculosis Bacilli were found. On February 21, 1905, I was advised to go to Fort Worth, Texas. While there an abscess in my right lung broke and discharged. I grew worse, and became very much emaciated. My physician informed me that I must go to Colorado as quickly as possible. I left Texas, June 21 and arrived in Canon City, June 3 very feeble. After being there two weeks, my physician informed me that my case was hopeless. Three weeks later I returned home, weighing 103 pounds, the doctor having given me no assurance of reaching there alive.

"On July 14, 1905, I began taking Eckman's wonderful remedy for Consumption. Today I weigh 138 pounds. I am stout and well and can do any kind of work about my grain elevator. I have not an ache nor pain in my lungs, eat well, sleep well, and never felt better."

(Sworn affidavit) ARTHUR WEBB

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists

DOMESTIC SCIENCE INCLUDED IN CHARLEROI SCHOOL CURRICULUM

High School and Grammar School Department to Have Benefit of Innovation

TEACHER IS ELECTED

Specialist From Pittsburg is Chosen---Manual Training Next--Commercial Course to be Installed

Domestic science will be included in the curriculum of high school and the grammar school department of the Charleroi schools the coming term. This departure has just been decided upon by the school board, already chosen a teacher for domestic science in the person of Miss McKee of the secondary school of education of the University of Pittsburg Miss McKee is a specialist She has been trained in the university. Manual training will come later in the grammar school and high school.The new grammar school will include the seventh and eighth grades which with the high school will occupy the new school building now being erected.

When the new building is completed there will be a room equipped for domestic science and one equipped for manual training in addition to the various other special room The course in domestic science will be to train the girls in sewing and cooking principally.

Together with the domestic science room will be fitted up for use this year the commercial department From 15 to 20 new typewriters of one of the latest and most approved makes will be installed, having already been purchased It will take two teachers for this department and they will probably be chosen at the next meeting of the school board

Architect A. P. Cooper of Uniontown, who has under his supervision the work of the new school building attended the meeting of the school board which was held Tuesday evening, and gave as his opinion that the new building would be finished ready for occupancy by the middle of September. This will be in good time for the coming school term

The contract for furnishing coal to the school district for the ensuing year was awarded to the Consumer's Coal company, of Charleroi of which T. J. Crombie is the manager.

Business Will Remain The Same.

Since the death of Wilmot D. Hancock, many people have inquired as to whether or not the undertaking business would still be conducted by Mrs Hancock She desires to state that she will remain in Roscoe and with the assistance of her brother, Chas. Mekanyzer, who recently secured his state licence as an undertaker, continue the business as heretofore. During the illness of Mr. Hancock a large portion of the work connected with the business was done by Mrs. Hancock, and she is therefore familiar with its undertaking 278-t6-M-2

Council Passes Ordinances Permitting Carnegie Coal Company to Build

By an ordinance that was passed first, second and third reading by council at a special meeting Tuesday evening, the Carnegie Coal company is granted permission to erect a tipple over McKean and Lincoln avenues The meeting of council was particularly for that purpose and was but a short session President W. R Gaut was in the chair and councilmen present were D R Duvall, W. H. Calvert and Frank Riva.

The tipple is to have a span of 56 feet over Lincoln avenue, and over McKean avenue of 64 feet of a minimum The tipple is to clear the Lincoln avenue grade by 3" feet and McKean avenue grade by 12 feet

FLAMES DESTROY A BARN

Heavy Loss Sustained by Mrs. Luce at Farm Back of Monessen

QUANTITY HAY BURNED

A barn belonging to the estate of Leonard Luce on the hill about a mile back of Monessen was burned this morning between 4 and 5 o'clock. With it was consumed the most of the contents, hay, feed, farm produce, machinery and implements Some horses were in the barn but these were gotten out uninjured. The loss is estimated at $2,000 with insurance of $1,000.

The fire was discovered at about 4:45 o'clock It was well under way, and all that could be done was to remove the horses from the burning structure. The farm is operated by Mrs. Luce, widow of Leonard Luce and her son Wesley, who have no idea as to the origin of the fire.

FATHER OF DR. A. O. DAVIS DIES SUDDENLY

Well Known Charleroi Man Victim of Acute Indigestion and Heart Trouble---Former Coal Operator Along Valley

From acute indigestion and from heart trouble William H Davis, aged 72 years, the father of Dr. A. O. Davis died this morning very suddenly at about 10 o'clock He had been troubled during the night by indigestion and this morning a doctor was called in, but medical attention was of no avail.

Dr Davis was in Meadville at the time of his father's death and was notified immediately by telephone. He started home and will arrive this afternoon.

Tuesday afternoon Mr Davis seemed in his usual health, and attended the benefit baseball game at the ball ground He was with a few of his friends Tuesday evening and it is said returned to his room at 209 Fifth street at about 11 o'clock Mr Davis was subject to attacks of indigestion, it is stated though he was usually in robust health The severe attack during the night and this morning was too much for him and almost before the seriousness of his illness could be realized he was gone

Mr. Davis was a veteran coal man of the Monongahela valley. He formerly lived in Allenport He retired about 15 years ago from active business. Six years ago his wife died, and since then he has resided in Belle Vernon and Charleroi.

Mr. Davis was first married about 40 years ago. After some years this first wife died To them two children had been born They are still living and are James Davis of Coal Center and Mrs. Zoppporah Baldwin of Brownsville At the time of his second marriage, Cassie Mitchell, of Allenport became his wife Their surviving children are Dr. A. O. Davis of Charleroi and Mrs Harry M. White of Belle Vernon.

Mr Davis was a member of Charleroi Lodge No 404, B. P. O. Elks.

WOMEN ATTEND REVIVAL AT TABERNACLE

W. C. T. U. Night Observed at Monessen Evangelistic Services

Escorted by a squad of six small girls dressed in white, who bore a huge bouquet of white carnations tied with white ribbon, the emblem of the organization, members of the Charleroi, Belle Vernon, Monongahela, Donora and Monessen W C T. U. marched from Sixth street, Monessen, to the big tabernacle Tuesday evening, where evangelistic services are being held Tuesday evening was specially dedicated to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and members of the order attended in a body from the towns mentioned.

At the tabernacle the bouquet of white carnations was presented to Rev. Dr. Hamilton, the evangelist who has charge of the meetings. He responded by saying he had rather receive white carnations from the W. C. T. U. than from any other organization, because it meant purity for the home, and for the girls and boys. The women of the delegation joined in singing, "All Around the World the Ribbon White Will Twine," one of the rallying songs of the organization Dr Hamilton preached a stirring sermon appropriate for the occasion.

Entertains Club.

The Travelers' fancy work club of young women was entertained Tuesday evening by Miss Mae Hepler at her home on McKean avenue. The evening was spent with fancy work.

Bridge Good at $30,000

County Commissioners Take Over River Structure at Belle Vernon

Commissioners from Washington and Fayette county on Tuesday held a meeting at Belle Vernon and inspected the Belle Vernon-Speers bridge, on which repairs have been recently completed They found everything had been done according to agreement, and formally acquired possession and put it into public use as a county structure

The bridge cost 30.000 to get repaired and the commissioners took action that the contract price be paid for the work It took the contractors longer than they had anticipated to finish the work, but the commissioners did not hold this against them

Baseball Battle for Benefit of Playgrounds Hot Struggle

REALLY INTERESTING

When John "Baseball" Schafer's aggregation of aggravating ball tossers and Robert "O-you-kid" Vetter's hefty heavyweight pill sluggers met in deadly combat on the ball arena over towards the river Tuesday night, and proceeded towards a scrap for the benefit of the Charleroi playgrounds, there was smoke. A good-sized audience attracted by the personality and popularity of the individual players as well as by the good and noble cause fumed around in the grand stand and fanned around all over the bleachers while Schafer and his crowd annexed a six inning victory with the final score 8 to 6. The defeat could not be and was not blamed on the umpires. Fred Brady "und" Joseph Schoener, possibly for the reason that the latter named notable had a Revolutionary war relic of a rifle hidden in the grass close to first base, to be used in case of emergency. Fred umpired for the batter and Joe for the bases The game was rich in several things For instance Pierce Ferguson hit out one of the longest hits that has ever been seen on the grounds. The ball went into the river and a boy had to go swimming to recover it.

The story will be told. Schafer's team went to bat first. Harry Zellers, Jr., was the first man up. What he did was to swat. Yezzir, and then he stole second base, and not satisfied, pilfered third too. Schafer whuffed the ozone three mighty whiffs, and Kerfoot Daly covered himself with all kinds of glory by singling, bringing in Zellers with the first score.

SCHOOLS AND ADULTS

The marked success of the special mining schools which are being conducted in the mining centers of this community demonstrates that the sphere of the public school does not stop with the youth who attains high school age. Some of these mining classes are maintained free of cost to the students, while in others a nominal fee is charged to cover expenses. One of the most successful series of mining classes that has been conducted has been in charge of instructors from the University of Pittsburg, who have conducted these classes at different points in the mining centers of the Pittsburg district. The mining school at Ellsworth has also been eminently successful. As a result a large number of coal miners of the community have been enabled to qualify for higher and more responsible positions, and to successfully pass the required examinations that will give them an opportunity to rise in their occupations and thereby increase their earning capacity and usefulness.

This goes to show that there should be no specified school age, and that the schools should be in operation in some of the departments the entire year, in the evenings as well as in the day time, and be open to adults as well as to younger students. There should be an opportunity at all times for foreigners to learn the English language, as well as night classes for adults to acquire practical instructions in preparing for higher positions, such as mine foreman, bossing in construction work, and other technical training where opportunity would add to the efficiency of workmen. No person should be past the school age at any time in life, and the public should provide free and easy facilities for advancing into the realms of advanced and higher education for practical purposes as well as for culture and pleasure.

PUBLIC BATHING POOLS

The sad drowning accident here last week, whereby one of the brightest and most promising of the high school boys lost his life, again emphasizes the need of a public bathing [illegible] provided with a [illegible] life saving appliances.

County Coroner James T. Heffran has annually recommended a provision of this kind for the various communities when reporting upon the numerous drowning cases of bathers which come under his jurisdiction. Pittsburg and other large communities provide this safeguard, and bathing pools are designated where an expert swimmer is assigned as a life guard. A boat, life buoys, lines, and other life saving equipment are provided, and the danger of drowning accidents are reduced to a minimum at a small public expense.

In communities where public playgrounds are maintained which employ an instructor and director, it would seem that the latter might take over the duties of a life guard at certain times of the day and escort to the river and supervise swimming parties of boys. In other instances the municipality could provide the expense for guards and equipment, and the state constabulary could be made useful in preventing bathing except at the regular designated swimming pools.

Every year a ghastly toll of life is exacted by the drowning of bathers in the river, which might be reduced to a minimum by a trifling public expense, and in addition provide pleasure and comfort for the people.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"The decision of the United States supreme court that the two cent passenger rate in West Virginia stands, will mean at least $5,000 to a station agent I know in one of the towns there," said a Charleroi man yesterday. "After the legislature of West Virginia passed the two cent rate law, it was immediately contested. In view of that the Chesepeake & Ohio Railroad company, while it still charged three cents a mile, issued a rebate of a cent a mile with every ticket sold pending the decision of the case. The most of the rebates were thrown away by the purchasers of tickets, but one of the station agents I know made a business of collecting them.

"The two cent rate won out in the lower courts of West Virginia, and in all the appellate courts of the state, and was finally taken to the United States supreme court, which has just now sustained the decision. The rebates [illegible] will have to be redeemed, and the agent in question has over $5,000 worth that he has collected since the road first began to issue them.

"The most of the other roads in the state accepted the law as passed and only charged the two cent rate while the case was being fought out in the courts. The C. & O., however will come out ahead in the deal as large numbers of the rebates were destroyed, and will never be presented for redemption.

A traveling man in Charleroi this week tells a story of a small boy who, when asked his name at school replied that it was Johnny.

"But I want your last name, too, said the teacher.

"Johnny's my last name," insisted the lad.

"No, it isn't, replied the teacher. "Your family name is your last name. Now, what is that? Smith, is it? Then that is your last name."

"Well, when I was born I was a Smith, wasn't I? I've heard my ma say that I wasn't named Johnny until two weeks after I was born, so that before I was named Johnny I was Smith, and Johnny is my last name," insisted the boy.

As this logic was irrefutable, the teacher did not insist on her version of the question.

Little Doubt About It.

Married a month, a young man told the magistrate that his wife had done the following things: Torn up the marriage-certificate, pawned the ring, torn up her wedding-dress, assaulted him. She followed him to court, he added, but he managed to dodge her The Clerk: "You took her for better or worse, and you seem to have got the worse."

Specialists Recommend Yawning.

In the opinion of learned specialists no one can be healthy unless he or she does a certain amount of yawning When you yawn you expel from the lungs a lot of superfluous air; the breathing muscles of both the chest and the throat are strengthened by yawning.

Parisian Solomon.

It is not given to every arbiter to cut the Gordian knot. Two customers in a Paris restaurant disputed, as customers will, whether to have the window open or shut. The apostle of ventilation had dined; the other was a fresh comer who had brought his stock of fresh air with him. The restaurateur decided for the monsieur who had not yet dined. The decision satisfied the claims of justice and business at a single stroke, and if one client had a grievance it was open to him to ventilate it (and his lungs) outside.

The Ocean Is Dusty.

When the decks of ships are rubbed and cleaned each morning great quantities of dust are invariably found. In the modern steamship this could be accounted for by the tons of carbon which are poured forth daily by the funnels, but the curious thing is that the deck of a sailing ship shows a greater quantity of this material than that of the steamship. In an Atlantic trip, occupying ninety-seven days by sailing ship, twenty-four barrels of powder were swept from the deck. The captain took extended observations of the amounts collected daily, but found nothing which assisted him to clear the mystery

Big Sculpture

The most remarkable proposal ever made about Mount Athos was that of the architect Dinocrates. His grand idea was to cut it into the shape of a gigantic statue of Alexander the Great, holding in the right hand a city, in the left a tank that was to receive all the waters of the region. Alexander was much taken with the scheme. But it was eventually rejected on the ground that the neighboring country was not fertile enough to feed the inhabitants of the projected city. Another of Dinocrates' plans was a temple to the wife of King Ptolemy of Egypt, with a roof of loadstones that would keep an iron statue of her floating in the air.

There is probably no lover of books who, having the means, would not be glad to possess treasures of the library which have won additional interest from association with great names. It is not surprising that Jean Grolier's copy of Ovid's "Heroidum Epistolae," with Grolier's arms and device, should have brought several hundreds dollars at an auction sale in this city, or that a record price should have been paid for the first collected edition of the Poetical and Dramatic Works" of Oliver Goldsmith, or that a letter of Garrick's should fetch $172.

Yet such prices have little to do with literature proper Many a man who possesses cheap copies of these auction items may get more enjoyment and culture out of editions the bibliophile would despise than the man who simply has to draw a check for whatever pleases his fancy

Lord Rosebery, in a recent address in Scotland, defined the function of books as direct aid to furnish information required in the professions, to furnish literature and to furnish recreation. De Quincey classified books as pertaining to the literature of knowledge and the literature of power. In neither sense except from the esthetic pleasures of ownership of a famous volume can the high prices of rare books in recent years be justified They are chiefly due to an eruption of the lords of the checkbook into the world of books where they have found profit The great Hoe library, which has now been practically dispersed, is said to have cost only about $750,000 while it brought at auction nearly $2,000,000

With such an illustration of the rising value of rare books, there need be no wonder at the high price some of these volumes command—New York World

EARTH'S HEIGHTS AND DEPTH

From the Topmost Mountain to the Lowest Ocean Bed Is Nearly Eight Miles

The maximum difference in elevation of land in the United States is 1-777 feet according to the United States Geological Survey Mount Whitney, the highest point, is 14,501 feet above sea level and a point in Death Valley is 276 feet below sea level These two points, which are both in California, are less than ninety miles apart The difference is small, however as compared with the figures for Asia Mount Everest rises 29,002 feet above sea level whereas the shores of the Dead Sea are 1,290 feet below sea level, a total difference in land heights of 30,292 feet Mount Everest has never been climbed

The greatest ocean depth yet found is 32,088 feet, at a point about forty miles north of the island of Mindanao, in the Philippine Islands The ocean bottom at this point is therefore more than eleven and one-half miles below the summit of Mount Everest

Birds and Beasts of Old Times.

Plants, animals and birds of the Bible have been made the subject of a special exhibition in the natural history department of the British museum Among the striking bits of information contained in this work are the following The common fowl is not mentioned in the old testament, and was probably introduced into Palestine after the Roman conquest The "unicorn" of the old testament was probably the Syrian aurochs, now extinct That the "behemoth" was not the hippopotamus is believed probable because of the fact that there is no record of the latter animal in Syria or Palestine in historical times The "tares" of the Bible were darnel grasses, whose seeds are poisonous; the "rose" was probably the narcissus, while the "lily" was the poppy anemone.

Real and Spurious Gems.

So nearly do the synthetic sapphire and ruby resemble the gems which nature requires centuries to produce that the expert alone can distinguish the real stone from that of laboratory origin. The average jeweler, who has himself had little experience in handling these gems, cannot tell the difference. He must take the expert's word that the stones he buys are genuine. In Paris they are turned out in the laboratories of chemists in large quantities annually In Germany and France selling manufactured sapphires and rubies as genuine is so common that the jewelers' associations of Paris and Berlin have asked their respective countries for stringent laws compelling the manufacturers to label their goods.

Where Do the Toads Go?

When a toad buries himself in the garden over winter, does he bury himself so deep that he is below the frost line? If he does not is he able to freeze up and thaw out again and live on just the same?

It is safe to say that no animal with a well-recognized circulatory system can freeze up solidly and "come to life again" afterward. The toad must be free from frost somewhere. But how deep does he go? The writer of these lines has himself turned up the torpid bodies of living toads with a plow in the early spring, and the creatures were certainly not six inches deep in the soil and they were not frozen. Had they been there all winter, and if so, how did they escape the frost?

FACTS ABOUT THE GIFT CO

[illegible] Evidently Having Had Sor Experience, Writes Bitter Things Concerning Animal in Question.

Already putting up the ba against presents, which, and often the queerest forms, are sure to offered or even sent without pe mission to a president by so ma of the generous, easy, careless should we add "irresponsible?" American tribe, Governor Wilson said to have warned or shooed aw the cow which a middle weste farmer sought to give him. Accor ng to the dispatches the govern will make it a rule to refuse "val able" gifts

The rule is none of our busines out is a cow, aye, though she be milky Orsini or Colonna, "valuable in the hands of an innocent thi party, not bucolic in his habits? Ho many blameless urban souls hav pined for the greenwood tree and horned Amaryllis in the shade ther of How many of them have begge bought, mortgaged, stolen, and [illegible] their little patch of land and stocke it with a cow, "fancy" or otherwis in price always "fancy," too often th gift of a pretended friend or ma licious relation? Was this lactiferou beast of their dreams "valuable" t them? Was it not rather a respon sibility, a cause of continual troubl and expense?

The cow moos all day, if kept a home and a decent regard for th neighbors forces the amateur to driv the danged thing afield. He can feed it or milk it, he has to hire man, usually incompetent, to cha eron it to and from the pasture, a tend to its board, milk it, telephon for the vet now and then Th cow caretaker doesn't know his bus ness The gift cow knows he doesn' know his business And milk is no one of the gifts of the cow The cow is always getting you into hot wate You can't sell it or give it away to a enemy You don't dare to shoot it You have to pass that cow's life i lying to the giver

Governor Wilson does well to bu his milk He would have to buy i just the same if he had a gift cow.—New York Sun

Cape Smoke.

The chiefs of Basutoland and Bech uanaland demand prohibition, an take care that it is secured to thei people But nevertheless the brandy party of the Cape Colony leaves no stone unturned to promote the sale of "cape smoke" and wine sufficient ly strengthened to suit the native taste. Nothing can be more fallacious or hypocritical than to speak of the native being supplied with "light wines" The native wants something with a "bite" in it, and is not satisfied with any intoxicant which does not proceed down his throat "like a torchlight procession"

Within the last three months there were at one time no fewer than 1,500 persons in the Johannesburg jails charged with illicit selling of intoxicants The crime is that of giving veritable poison to natives—all at a price frequently of ten shillings a bottle. The punishment for this lucrative and murderous traffic is, Mr Wilmot contends, absolutely preposterous," and after some months of easy prison life the brazen trafficker returns to his easy method of making money

Water Colors.

Bodies of water take on different colors at different times. The intense blue that is sometimes noticed is often nothing more than the reflection of a clear sky from the surface of brown river water. But men that have studied the sea say that the water is bluest when it is most salty. They say that in such salty places as the Gulf of Mexico and the Mediterranean sea the blue is caused by the salty quality and not by the summer skies The sea in the northern oceans is green rather than blue

If you have ever visited a natatorium, where the water for swimming is held in a great white tiled tank, you must have noticed the color. When the surface of the water is untroubled the color is a deep green, except where direct sunlight strikes it and turns it to a brilliant olive. But let a swimmer once disturb the surface and seed little waves rippling in every direction, and the green disappears, to be replaced by a blue like that of the sky Yet if you catch up some of this water in your hand you will find that it is colorless.

Constanza, which has sprung into fame as a city of refuge for the Daily Chronicle war correspondent in flight from the Turkish censor, is an important marine asset for Roumania. It was also a place of interest in Roman days. Trajan's wall ran down to the outskirts of the town, which had another name then, and afterward became Kustenji. But the office window will rather care to note that Ovid in his banishment used to seek his recreation in the society supplied by the few distinguished compatriots settled by the Black harbor on the Black sea It is not an unpleasant place just now, for the autumn lasts agreeably into the middle of November. Ovid's complaints of Tomi seem somewhat exaggerated

Do You Blame the Operator for Every Delay?

In a Telephone Central Office there are rushes just as in the business of a store, a bank or a restaurant.

Does any store clerk, sales girl, cashier in any store in town wait on you as quickly as do the operators of the Telephone Company?

The average time you wait for Central to say "Number please," is less than four seconds. Where else does one receive as uniformly good service?

Consider, too, how long, some times, you are in answering your telephone bell. You expect prompt answers. Do YOU answer promptly?

WOMAN TOOK FRIEND'S ADVICE

And Found Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Windom, Kansas.—"I had a displacement which caused bladder trouble and I was so miserable I didn't know what to do. I suffered from bearing down pains, my eyes hurt me, I was nervous, dizzy and irregular and had female weakness. I spent money on doctors but got worse all the time.

"A friend told me about the Pinkham remedies and I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and was cured. I cannot praise your remedies enough for I know I never would have been well if I had not taken it."—Miss MARY A HORNER, Route No. 2, Box 41, Windom, Kansas.

Consider Well This Advice.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Kerfoot got out on second base when he tried to stretch his single into a double. Tiff Might doubled, and stole third base, scoring when John Jenkins was safe on an error by Duffy Fergerson. Mathias fanned retiring the side.

For Vetter's gathering, Ferguson was given a walk. He swiped second. Vetter struck out, and Fergy got caught at third. Bateman doubled, stole third and a moment later after Bruce Barnett had struck out, and Zellers had dropped the ball, scored on George Barnett's single. Bruce got caught at third base.

The score remained 2 to 1 until the third inning, when it was tied up at 5 to 5. Then Scharer's team tallied thrice on two hits and several other things, and Vetter's four scores happened on four hits and several other things. One score for Vetter put him in the lead in the fourth. This was the last score his side made. Schafer's folks hit twice in the fifth and being helped along, scored three runs.

Schafer twirled three innings. With a ball that was slower than a B. & O. freight train and harder to swat than a fly on the wing, he proved very effective. Then he retired to give Jack Mathias a show. At this junction it was that Duffy Ferguson connected for that awful long one. However Jack was some twirler.

Vetter pitched for himself three innings and looked better than he felt. He slew five Schafer Philistines, and in the third quit because Harry Hormell wanted to pitch. Harry is a southpaw and that proved puzzling to the first three men he faced. He did well in the box.

Zellers and Ferguson both acted well behind the bat, and both showed real baseball form. On pegging to second they were simply great. First base jobs were capably handled by Charley Bateman and Daly. Of course both forgot or neglected to stop several that came their way, but that was through lack of practice. John Jenkins mussed up the ground at second base for Schafer and tried hard to stop a few easy grounders, playing a beautiful game. Bruce Barnett acted similarly to Jenkins, but it was noticeable that the playing of the band bothered him as well as it did Jenkins. Tiff Might turkey trotted around shortstop gracefully for the victors and had as his rival Attorney McCloskey, who posed more as a ball player than a turkey trotter, consequently getting a putout, an assist and an error to his credit.

On third posed Mathias, Seedy Fleming and George Barnett. Really, now folks, they played the best kind of baseball. The latter caught one fly that would have tickled Bobby Bryne, and the others, well they were simply all there. The outfielders for Schafer consisted of Seedy Fleming, who played there three innings, Burgess Risbeck, 'Squire Wheeler and John Fleming. The burgess hadn't played for 15 years, and didn't get a chance in the field, but showed class at the bat. Wheeler slugged the ball for two hits, and Fleming singled once for keeps. Tom Barger, Tom Eagye, Will Crawford and August Pancook sensationalized, starred and scraped in the outfield for Vetter. Pancook got the most work and accepted all chances cleanly. John Hein and Tommy Warrensford got to bat for two of their teammates in the noble duty of getting out.

As a matter of fact the game was not as bad as it might have been, and was really interesting. Preceding the game a parade took place. The Charleroi Concert band led in a large automobile, rendering music. At the ball park sweet strains from various composers enlivened the occasion. The score:

GOOD SCHOOL FACILITIES ARE REALIZED

One of the desirable features in connection with the location of the new lot plan of Lock View Terrace, in North Charleroi, where a big lot sale will take place Friday and Saturday of this week, is its close proximity to first-class schools and churches. In addition to the excellent public graded school at North Charleroi the residents have the privilege of the Charleroi high school, an institution that ranks second to none in its class in western Pennsylvania. As North Charleroi does not at the present time maintain a high school, pupils of that district can attend at Charleroi, and their tuition will be paid by the North Charleroi district.

In regard to church facilities, all the churches of Charleroi are within walking distance from Lock View Terrace, which are also accessible to two street car lines.

MARRIED IN ST. LOUIS; ARE HERE ON BRIEF VISIT

After having been married at St. Louis, Mo., last Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. William Eneix, are here on their wedding trip visiting the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Eneix, of Sixth street. Before her marriage Mrs. Eneix was Miss Anna Ledger. She is the daughter of Capt. Thomas Ledger of St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Eneix after visiting in Charleroi several days will go to housekeeping at Woodlawn, where the groom is employed as a shipper at the Jones and Laughlin mill. Both the bride and groom are popular young people. The bride is known in Charleroi, where she has visited.

FREE METHODISTS HOLD CAMPMEETING

The Free Methodist campmeeting, which is in progress at Roscoe, is creating much interest in that community. There is a large auditorium tent, while campers have about 30 additional tents. Sunday's meeting attracted a large congregation, while the nightly meetings are largely attended. A noted "boy preacher" is in attendance, and his stirring addresses attract much attention.

OBSERVE CHILDREN'S DAY AT COAL CENTRE

Sunday, Children's Day was the greatest day of all the year at the Coal Centre Presbyterian church. Nearly 300 people were present that day. The porgram was the best they have had for several years. Mrs. Jennie Harper, Miss Agnes Smith and Miss Euphamia McNeil drilled the children for the exercises. The singing of the children was enjoyed by all.

"The tips outwear the gloves"

is the World's standard silk glove—all other silk gloves are measured by the "KAYSER" standard.

The development of the "KAYSER" Silk Glove represents the attainment of an ideal, the achievement of which has not been hampered by restrictions of cost or time, nor influenced by a passing demand for features most of the characteristics as "talking points."

We could not afford to buy expensive advertising space "year after year," to tell the women of America that "KAYSER" Gloves are the best in style, fit and finish—if it were not true.

"KAYSER" gloves "cost no more" than the ordinary kind—and are worth double in quality, fit and value. Don't accept the "just as good" kind, there's a way to tell the genuine—"Look in the Hem"—if you find the name "KAYSER"—you have the kind that "don't wear out" at the finger ends.

Climate Failed; Medicine Effective

It has been absolutely shown that rest, fresh air and good food do help many persons suffering from Tuberculosis. But it must be admitted that the disease is seldom more than "arrested." Something more is needed.

Eckman's Alterative is a medicine made for the treatment of Tuberculosis. It has conquered this disease again and again. Often these benefits have been effected where the surroundings were not ideal—yet recoveries resulted. Now we argue that Eckman's Alterative should be used in every case of Tuberculosis, in addition to good, nourishing food and fresh air, which we all need. A remarkable case follows:

Weldon, Ill.

"Gentlemen: Through Eckman's Alterative I have been saved from a premature grave. On December 14, 1904, I was taken with Typhoid Pneumonia. My lungs became very much affected; my sputum was examined and Tuberculosis Bacilli were found. On February 21, 1905, I was advised to go to Fort Worth, Texas. While there an abscess in my right lung broke and discharged. I grew worse, and became very much emaciated. My physician informed me that I must go to Colorado as quickly as possible. I left Texas, June 21 and arrived in Canon City, June 3 very feeble. After being there two weeks, my physician informed me that my case was hopeless. Three weeks later I returned home, weighing 103 pounds, the doctor having given me no assurance of reaching there alive.

"On July 14, 1905, I began taking Eckman's wonderful remedy for Consumption. Today I weigh 158 pounds. I am stout and well and can do any kind of work about my grain elevator. I have not an ache nor pain in my lungs, eat well, sleep well, and never felt better."

(Sworn affidavit) ARTHUR WEBB.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists
